My "AUTHORITATIVE ETHNOLOGY AND TECHNICAL DIRECTORSHIP" has made the following productions a SUCCESS:

"Braveheart," C. B. De Mille; "The Heart of Winona," David Belasco.
"White Chief," Romaine Fielding, Lubin; "The Boston Tea Party," Vitagraph; "Indiana," Selig; "The Wolf Man," Edison; "The Inner Voice," Fox; "Lone Trail," Famous Players; "The Great Secret," Metro. The first two productions and producers are my best references.

My many years of active "authoritative technical directorship" on American anthropology and ethnology and my own RESEARCH LIBRARY and collection of ARTS and CRAFTS of primitive races are at your service.

Don't wait until you are on the set! Let my experience help you on "CONTINUITY," SET DRESSING, and COSTUMING—that is my profession.

IT is with a great deal of pleasure that the Standard presents this month a page advertisement contributed by Mr. Edmund Goulding, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director.

The purpose of the space is to give due credit to those unmentioned and unadvertised players who gave their time and abilities to his recent picture, "Paris", and to whom he gives a large measure of credit for its success.

The Standard desires to subscribe to the method used by Mr. Goulding in publicly acknowledging his appreciation and endorsement of these players who may receive no professional credit for their performances other than through the pages of the Standard Casting Directory.

It is an idea which, if carried out by each director, would serve to select and develop new talent for the screen.

ANDRE BERANGER

"Are Parents People?" "Grounds for Divorce"
"The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" "The Bat"
"The Lady of the Harem" "Miss Brewster's Millions" "Fig Leaves" "Le Reveillon"

In Above Score of Successes (Principally Famous Players-Lasky), All in Past Year

In Several Already of 1926, Including Present Featured Romantic Comedy Roles With Hawks, Lubitsch.

Representative, Every Key City:

By HELEN KLUMPH
"The real sensation. Never have I seen a more gorgeous satirical performance."

By QUINN MARTIN
"Also there was a young man named Andre de Beranger, and this fellow seemed to me to strike a distinctly new note in the film scale, one which promises much for him in case he is lucky enough to have a friend or two in Hollywood who will give him a chance."

By DOROTHY HERZOG
"He's a riot of good cheer."

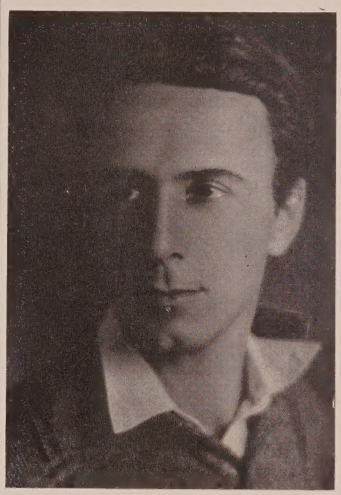
By N. Y. MORNING TELEGRAPH
"Riotously funny. Phenomenal."

By R. W. JUNIOR
"Andre Beranger is hilariously amusing."

By ANNABELLE LANE
"Andre Beranger is delightful; I wished he had more to do in the film. He seems to have a whimsical touch that suggests Charlie Chaplin."

By EDWIN SCHALLERT
"Depicted in a telling and humorous manner by Andre Beranger. He is an excellent trouper.

By REGINA CANNON
"Mr. de Beranger's performance is literally a scream."



ANDRE BERANGER

By ROBERT E. SHERWOOD
"Andre Beranger is excellent."

By IDWAL JONES
"De Beranger plays with awesome effectiveness and finish."

By GRACE KINGSLEY
"Andre de Beranger is delicious."

By ANNABELLE LANE
"Andre Beranger gives a delicious performance. I hope to see more of him."

By CARL SANDBURG
"We hope to see more from Beranger. He is of the best."

By MAE TINEE
"If you don't believe there's kick in his work, run over and be convinced."

By TAMAR LANE
"Andre Beranger is another actor rapidly forging to the front as a film favorite. The acting honors in "Are Parents People?" and "Miss Brewster's Millions" put him over with the public and will shortly force him into the big money class."

By MILDRED SPAIN
"Do you remember the scene in "Dulcy" where Andre de Beranger——. There is just such a delightful scene by Andre de Beranger."

By -?- N. Y. JOURNAL
"That one hilarious scene is in itself worth the price of admission."

By EDWARD D. PEARSON
"And though Andre de Beranger not have an important part, he is worth visiting the theatre for alone."

By FRED SHRADER
"The honors of the film must go to Beranger. He is some actor."

By T. O. SERVICE
"But it is of George Andre Beranger I wish to speak in a paragraph apart. This is the young man whose name I missed in "Are Parents People?" This is the young actor who burlesqued the film shiek so perfectly in that picture as to warrant extra special mention in the report thereof. In this he is a super-temperamental young Frenchman addicted to airplanes and proposals, such a character as has been attempted innumerable times and accomplished this once.
"He is different; he is fresh; he is able. I hereby discover him in the name of His Majesty King Public."

By SCREENLAND MAGAZINE
"Priceless."

By RICHARD WATTS, JR.

"I suspect that in many cases the public is quicker to recognize merit than are the producers.

"Andre de Beranger is a comedian of freshness and originality, as he revealed in "Are Parents People?" "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" and "Miss Brewster's Millions."

By WELFORD BEATON

"When I saw "Dulcy" about three years ago I was impressed by the flashes of fine acting done by Andre Beranger. Only this year he seems to have been discovered. Baseball has scouts who constantly are on the alert for new players. Why don't producers have scouts who view all pictures in search of new talent?

"Andre Beranger is no better actor now than he was three years ago, because he was a finished artist then, but apparently his claim to recognition was a secret between him and me for all that time. But now the secret is out."

What the New York Critics Said of "Chivalry"

"Violet Heming and Edmund Breese gave a splendid performance. Joseph Bell was the only other member of the exceptionally large cast to register"—N. Y. Evening Graphic.

"There was an ingratiating performance by one Joseph Bell"—N. Y. Times.

"Joseph Bell was a real hit"—Stamford Review.

"Special mention is deserved by Joseph Bell"—Stamford Review

"Joseph Bell, as the divorced husband of the murderess, also is very amusing in a cleverly performed semi-comedy part.—Billboard.

"Joseph Bell contributes a finished amusing character"—Variety

"ORA CAREW triumphs in drama by Vadja."—Florence Lawrence, Examiner.
"Smartly acted and effective. Sincerely appreciative audience paid tribute to ORA CAREW, the Star."—Guy Price, Herald.
"ORA CAREW evinces much ease and subtle finesse in her interpretation."—Monroe Lathrop, Express.
Very human, indeed; suave skill in use of situation; reveals truthful understanding of life."—Grace Kingsley, Times.
"ORA CAREW, as Mathilda Fay, charmed a great first night audience with her sophisticated portrayal of the woman."—Eleanor Barnes, Daily News.
